ACTIVISTS IMPLORE GERMAN FOREIGN MINISTER TO INTERVENE TO HELP THE PEOPLE OF SUDAN

German Embassy in Washington to follow up with Berlin after meeting delegation from Act for Sudan

WASHINGTON, DC - August 20, 2016 - Officials from the German Embassy in Washington, DC, committed to follow up with the German Foreign Ministry in Berlin after the August 16 meeting with a delegation from Act for Sudan that implored Germany to intervene on behalf of the Sudanese people. The delegation emphasized the urgency of three requests, documented in the recent letter to German Federal Minister for Foreign Affairs Frank-Walter Steinmeier (included below).

The delegation requested that the German government assist in securing the immediate release of internally displaced Darfuris who were arrested by the Sudan government after recent meetings with the U.S. Sudan/South Sudan Special Envoy Ambassador Donald Booth; pressure the regime to abide by the ceasefires it had declared, ending attacks by its military and its proxies; and use its influence on the E.U. to end support to the Sudan government which is part of the E.U. program to curb the flow of immigrants into Europe.

Act for Sudan's delegation included Sudanese survivors of genocide and mass atrocities from Sudan's marginalized people of Darfur, the Nuba Mountains and Blue Nile State, and the Beja in eastern Sudan, plus a representative of American activists. They met with the German Embassy's Minister for Political Affairs Helga Barth and Axel Hein, the Embassy's Sudan Affairs Director.

The German officials listened closely to the Act for Sudan delegation's personal experience of the genocidal Khartoum regime, including the lesser-known plight of the indigenous Beja people in eastern Sudan. Niemat Ahmadi, founder and president of the Darfur Women Action Group, provided details of the horrific use of rape as a weapon of war by Khartoum's military and proxies in both Darfur and the Nuba Mountains. Ibrahim Ahmed, president of the Beja Organization for Human Rights and Development, gave information about human trafficking - including organ harvesting - from refugees and local indigenous people. The Act for Sudan delegation also warned Embassy officials of the regime's complicity with global terrorism, including collaboration with the Islamic State.

The German officials assured the group that they would be sending Act for Sudan's letter, signed by 77 human rights organizations and prominent individuals, to Minister Steinmeier, along with their own further comments from the meeting.

"I hope that Germany will help, as they helped me years ago to escape from Sudan," remarked Daowd Salih, co-founder and board president of Damanga Coalition for Freedom and Democracy, a Darfuri human rights group.

"It is extremely important that Germany understand the long history of the Sudan government's failure to abide by any agreement that it signs," said Komi Elaiaiser, the president of the Nuba Mountains International Association. Elaiaiser said that it is happening again today, noting that even after extraordinary compromises offered by the coalition opposed to the government (known as the Sudan Call), the Sudan regime has rejected moving forward on the so-called "Roadmap to Peace" that the AU has been leading. "Instead of peace, the government of Sudan continues to commit war crimes by attacking civilians and blocking humanitarian aid," said Elaiaiser.

"We warned the officials that the Sudan government is complicit in global terrorism. It is in the best interest of, not only the people of Sudan, but the global community, to come to the aid of Sudan's marginalized and persecuted people," said Faith McDonnell from the Institute on Religion and Democracy's Church Alliance for a New Sudan.

Letter on Sudan to Germany's Federal Minister for Foreign Affairs Steinmeier:

August 9, 2016

The Honourable Frank-Walter Steinmeier
Federal Minister for Foreign Affairs
c/o German Embassy
4645 Reservoir Road NW
Washington, DC 20007

Dear Minister Steinmeier,

We, the undersigned 77 human rights groups, civic leaders, scholars and activists, write to request your assistance in securing the immediate release of internally displaced Darfuris who were arrested by the Sudan government after recent meetings with Ambassador Donald Booth, the U.S. Special Envoy to Sudan and South Sudan. In addition, we ask you to intervene on behalf of the people of Sudan to pressure the Sudan government to abide by the ceasefires it declared on the 17th and 30th of June and to end all attacks by its forces and militias. Finally, as a leader of the European Union (EU), we ask Germany to exert its influence to end support to the Sudan government as part of its program to curb the flow of immigrants into Europe.

On July 27th, Ambassador Booth began a visit to Darfur to assess the humanitarian situation and to understand the perspective of the people with regard to the national dialogue process, the Darfur referendum and the effectiveness of UNAMID. He met with Darfuris who were displaced by violence and he was told very frankly, as reported by Radio Dabanga on July 29th, "the killings, rapes, arrests and torture by the government and its militias and the occupation of their land by new settlers are still ongoing." On July 31st, Radio Dabanga reported that five of the displaced people who met with Ambassador Booth were arrested. On August 2nd, we received reports that 16 people have now been arrested and additional arrests are expected. The people of Darfur have suffered and bravely endured over 13 years of targeted attacks by the Sudan government for the purpose of permanently removing them from their homes and land. According to the most recent OCHA Darfur Humanitarian Overview and the report of the UNAMID Peacekeeping Chief to the UN Security Council, currently 3.3 million people are in need of humanitarian assistance in Darfur and in the first five months of this year, 138,000 people were newly displaced in Darfur. In addition, over 300,000 are refugees in Chad and Central African Republic. It is imperative that the international community stand with the people of Darfur who seek international assistance in addressing the crimes that have been committed against them. Those who commit these crimes must not be allowed to punish their victims for speaking out. Please intervene on behalf of those who have been arrested by demanding that the government of Sudan drop all charges and immediately grant their release.

On June 18th, Sudanese president, Omar al-Bashir, announced a four month ceasefire in the Nuba Mountains/South Kordofan and Blue Nile states, followed on June 30th by a unilateral ceasefire in Darfur. However since then, according to Nuba Reports, SAF-aligned militia have since attacked civilians in the Nuba Mountains, and Radio Dabanga has reported multiple attacks on civilians in Darfur. For example as reported by Radio Dabanga on June 19th, seven barrel bombs were dropped in Jebel Marra and a father and his eight year old son were killed. On July 10th, barrel bombs in East Jebel Marra killed three people and livestock and homes were destroyed. On July 19th, Sudanese soldiers and its militia, Rapid Support Forces, attacked villages in South and North Darfur. Among those killed were a mother and her 12 year old son. On August 3rd, bombs were dropped again in Jebel Marra injuring civilians, killing livestock and destroying homes. The war against the people of Sudan by its government has not ended despite meaningless declarations by Bashir. State sponsored violence and the refusal to allow international humanitarian aid into the country has resulted in the deaths of countless Sudanese throughout the entire country. Ignoring this reality for millions of people is unconscionable. Therefore, we urge you to exert tremendous pressure on the Sudan regime to stop all attacks against the people of Sudan and to allow international humanitarian aid into Darfur, the Nuba Mountains/South Kordofan, Blue Nile, Eastern Sudan and to all Sudanese in need.

Given the role the Sudan regime is playing in harming and displacing its own citizens as described above, it is extremely concerning that it should be entrusted with protecting people who are trying to escape desperate situations in their own countries. Due to the failed policies of Bashir, the economy of the country is in shambles and the regime is frantic in its efforts to find outside funding in order to maintain its grip on power. The regime fears for its own survival if it cannot pay off those it has hired to intimidate the people of Sudan and to destroy those who seek a better future for the country. This is a regime whose leader is charged by the International Criminal Court with “three counts of genocide by killing, by causing serious bodily harm or mental harm, and by deliberately inflicting on each target group conditions of life calculated to bring about the group’s physical destruction.” In addition, Bashir is charged with “five counts of crimes against humanity [for] murder, extermination, forcible transfer, torture, and rape” and with “two counts of war crimes [for] intentionally directing attacks against civilian populations...” Needless to say, the Sudan regime is an inappropriate partner for Germany and the European Union. Neither Germany nor the European Union should allow themselves to be complicit in advancing genocide and mass atrocities by supporting the Sudan regime for any purpose.

This is a critical time in history for Germany, Europe and the world. The world needs leaders and nations who will defend the rights of all humans and will oppose those who seek power and wealth above all else and at the expense of humanity. Germany has a unique opportunity and responsibility in Sudan and we strongly urge you to use your influence to free those who have been detained for speaking out; to protect and provide for those who are harmed by the Sudan regime; and to find alternative ways to address the refugee crisis that does not prop up a genocidal regime.
